CONFERENCE DESCRIPTION

In the current era of spiraling medical costs with growing emphasis on the provision of cost-effective medical care, it has become increasingly important for Primary Care Providers to become adept at evaluating and treating ambulatory gynecologic problems. This conference will provide you with a practical, clinical update on a full range of women's health issues including the diagnosis and management of common gynecologic complaints, contraception, depression, menopause, diabetes and other endocrine disorders. In-depth small group workshops are included which will instruct and allow you to develop and refine your skills on endometrial biopsy, basic colposcopy, advanced colposcopy, IUD insertion/removal, and management of common birth control pill problems.

The goal of this conference is to present current clinical data on key issues in office gynecology and women's health, along with treatment options to manage these challenges in the primary care setting. Topics for this year's conference have been selected based on extensive target audience needs assessment data resulting from professional practice gaps. These gaps are identified by a variety of sources including feedback and evaluations from past participants, clinical expert input, Symposia Medicus' online survey, and other medical and nursing data.

Our outstanding faculty has been selected based on their individual areas of expertise, their ability to communicate first-hand knowledge to others, and their commitment to address issues of current concern to attendees.

This conference will provide you with an opportunity to share current ideas with colleagues from across the country in beautiful Maui, Hawaii.

CONFERENCE OBJECTIVES

- Manage common problems seen in menopause, including osteoporosis and postmenopausal bleeding
