Conference Description

Our 18th Annual Winter Conference on Primary Care Medicine is designed to provide physicians, nurses, nurse practitioners, and physician assistants with information on current primary care issues, as well as offer practical management techniques that can be applied immediately in your practice.

The goal of this conference is to provide a comprehensive update on current issues in Primary Care with emphasis on practical application of evidence-based information. In addition to didactic lectures, ample time has been scheduled for participant feedback and interaction.

Topics for this year's conference have been selected based on extensive target audience needs assessment data resulting from professional practice gaps. These gaps are identified by a variety of sources including feedback and evaluations from past participants, clinical expert input, Symposia Medicus' online survey, and other medical and nursing data.

Our outstanding faculty has been selected based on their individual areas of expertise, their ability to communicate first-hand knowledge to others, and their commitment to address issues of current concern to attendees.

Morning sessions and two late-afternoon sessions leave ample time for skiing and exploring Big Sky and Yellowstone National Park. We have also arranged a variety of group tours that will allow for enjoyment of the area, as well as continued discussion relating to the conference topics.
